

Family Tree Private School
THE SCHOOLHOUSE OF THE 21ST CENTURY

OFFICE DESCRIPTION

This “Office Description” is presented as if the student is in a traditional classroom, or has a formal desk working area. In the context of homeschooling, references to not “talking” or “singing” (item #7) may be translated to no phone or loud music. Please apply these guidelines to your own situation.

1. Each student will be assigned an office, and supplies by the teacher. This property is to be maintained neatly.
2. All items placed in offices must be approved.
3. No pencil, or pen marks are to be made anywhere on the furnishings.
4. Students are not permitted to communicate with others, or be out of their offices without permission.
5. No activities are to be carried-on in student offices not directly related to learning of prescribed instruction unless a privilege has been earned.
6. STUDENTS SHOULD NOT SIT IDLE!
7. Students are not allowed to talk or sing out loud when it interferes with learning.
8. Students should learn to speak to the teacher appropriately.
9. Students are not to ask the time or request permission to throw away paper. These things can be done on break.
10. Students are required to have complete supplies on hand every day, and to inform the teacher when they are in need of a supply.
11. Only students dressing appropriately will be allowed in the learning center/office area.

NOTE: Students can usually work in other locations with permission. If school work is finished too quickly, the student should add more work to their goal (adjusting the information on their chart that day, because they should engage in each subject about 50 minutes. Holding fast to this rule will prevent students from just rushing to get done early. The additional work can be either more pages of the curriculum or any other agreed on constructive assignment .Of course if rushing produced poor quality work, the student will spend the time re-doing the work.)
